

Councilwoman Brenda Deans, is the newest member to join the Jamesburg Borough Council this year. Previously, Mrs. Deans has worked for UMDNJ for 26yrs to procure goods and services and to save money for her company and N.J. taxpayers. She is certified in high tech negotiation skills and contract management, and also has her Associates Degree in business administration. After retiring from UMDNJ, Mrs. Deans has pursued a career in real estate, which she has done for the past four years. She hopes as councilwoman she can educate Jamesburg residents about the values of their homes and property, as well as, helping to reach out and negotiate for funds and grants to help build up Jamesburg.
